

Lockers at the Pool

Have you ever had something stolen at the pool because it was just sitting on a bench? Have you ever had a phone get so hot it wouldn't even turn on until it cools down? Have you ever had a bottle of sunscreen on the bench and it melted?

The truth is we should have lockers at the pool. We need to have lockers at the pool because when we set our stuff down on the benches all of our stuff gets really hot. An example is when you want to stay at the pool for a couple of hours and you set your towel, device, shoes, and sunscreen on the bench. When you get out of the pool your phone will be super hot and the shoes are so hot you can't even put them on or sometimes maybe even a bird could have pooped on it because there is no roof. Another example is people can steal your stuff. It is so easy for other people to take your stuff because it is just sitting on the bench because everyone puts their stuff in the same place on the three benches.

It is beneficial to all of the community because when they get out of the pool the people's stuff won't be melted everywhere and really warm stuff. Our community could also come closer together because no one can steal other people's stuff. After someone left the pool and had stolen something, then that person that had their thing stolen would not get their stuff back. The stuff on the benches by the showers get wet sometimes because when the shower turns on the benches get wet because it is so close to the shower.

It is fair to all in the community because everyone will have all of their stuff to them and they will not be stepped on. They also will be like what they were like when they were brought to the pool. Everyone will be able to put on their shoes right away, and if that person has a device then the device will actually work right because it is not super hot. Also if people put their stuff by the showers then the showers won't get anything wet. Most of the stuff won't be on the ground waiting to be stepped on too.

In all, having lockers at the pool would be very nice for everyone. Lots of the problems would be gone and they will be fixed. The things that people bring are not going to be melted. These things won't be stolen and the stuff won't be wet if they are by the shower.
